Back in the 1950s, Tissot celebrated its centenary with a series of innovations – one of which was the integration of a date function to the automatic mechanism in a watch called Visodate. The Tissot Heritage Visodate translates nostalgia into contemporary timepieces dedicated to detail. A gently curved dial mirrors the domed sapphire glass, both geared to showcasing a clearly visible day and date.

The Tissot Tradition family gives ultra-modern watchmaking a justified hint of nostalgia, giving today's technology a vintage-style design signature. High-tech operation is perfectly balanced with classical details and subtle vintage-look finishes. These are complemented by design elements such as guilloché decoration and a gently curved case. The Tissot Tradition promises wearers endless hours of precision with sustainable good looks.

The Tissot Chemin des Tourelles is a very special piece that encapsulates an important part of Tissot's history. It takes its name from the street in Le Locle, Switzerland, where the Tissot factory was established in 1907, and where the company can still be found today. The watch compliments the company's vast years of expertise with a contemporary design with an elegant case. The result is wonderfully luxurious, but still easily accessible thanks to the good value Tissot is still proud to offer.

The Tissot T-Race MotoGP™ Special Edition is the watch that represents one of the fastest and most thrilling sports on Earth. This special edition definitely has the style to match, with features such as a brake disc on the bezel and tyres' marks are drawn on the dial. The pushers look like footrests and there is even a rear suspension rod attaching the strap to the case. It's a must-have for every MotoGP™ fan.

The Tissot Seastar 1000 merges style and performance without compromising either. The diving inspiration shapes both the appearance and the functionality of this watch. It maintains its performance to a pressure of 30 bar (300m/1'000ft), combining underwater sports and a preference for a sophisticated Swiss timepiece. The diving theme continues through elements such as a unidirectional bezel, a strap with a divers' safety buckle, plus luminescent hands and markings.

Tissot's pioneering spirit is what led to the creation of tactile watches in 1999. Today, it is the first to present a touch-screen watch powered by solar energy, confirming its position as leader in tactile technology in watchmaking. The rays of light on the dial allow to recharge the watch and to offer essential functions for everyday use. All this in a modern and dynamic stylish watch.
